

ENVIRONMENTAL RACISM

Indigenous Community Impacts

Environmental racism causes profound hardships for many Indigenous communities across Canada. They experience longstanding environmental decline and adverse socio-economic, health, and cultural impacts associated with hydro, mining and climate change. Governments and industry have largely ignored and thus worsened any impacts. Bill C-226 will immediately help address such concerns.

“ Many times our parents and grandparents told us that the white men will arrive, and they will destroy our lands and waters. Once they destroy everything they will leave, and that's when we will die. ”

-Donna Dumas, Mathias Colomb Cree Nation

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACTS

Invasive species

Wildlife and fish

Soils and water

Biodiversity

Erratic weather

SOCIAL & CULTURAL IMPACTS

Traditional ways of living

Health and well-being

Mental illness

Culture and language

Gendered violence

Addictions

ECONOMIC IMPACTS

Livelihoods and incomes

Government dependency

Economic opportunities

eclinfo@umanitoba.ca

SSHRC CRSH

204.474.9316

environmentalconservaionlab.ca